

Annual Review of Applied Linguistics

This journal does not accept unsolicited submissions. Rather the editor and editorial directors extend invitations to prospective authors of review articles based on a prospective author's record of recent refereed articles and other current publications on a particular topic.