Instructions for Authors

AIMS AND SCOPE

The International Journal of Developmental Biology publishes original articles and reviews which throw light on our understanding of animal and plant developmental mechanisms in health and disease. Technical, historical or theoretical approaches also fall within the scope of the journal. Criteria for acceptance include scientific excellence, novelty and quality of presentation of data and illustrations. In general, purely descriptive papers will not be published unless they present new perspectives on biological development.

MANUSCRIPT PREPARATION

Papers can be submitted as one of the following article types with the indicated principal headings:

Original Article: Abstract, Introduction, Results, Discussion, Materials & Methods, Acknowledgements, References, Tables and Figure Legends.

Review: Table of Contents, Text, Summary, Acknowledgements, References, Tables and Figure Legends.

Technical Article: Abstract, Introduction, Experimental Protocols, Results & Discussion, Acknowledgements, References, Tables and Figure Legends.

Short Communication: Abstract, Text, Experimental Procedures, References, Tables and Figure Legends. Gene expression patterns can only be published as Short Communications. Must not exceed 4 journal pages (approx. 800 words per page) including illustrations and references.

Essay or Special Contribution: Must include a Summary, but there are no structural restrictions. Essays typically include theoretical considerations, whereas Special Contributions are devoted, for instance, to the update of tables of development of different organisms.

Examples of each of these types of articles can be downloaded from the IJDB web page at <http://www.ijdb.ehu.es>. No detailed formatting requirements have to be fulfilled for manuscripts initially submitted for publication. They should simply conform with the following points. (When submitting a revised version of a paper, which incorporates the comments of editors and referees, the manuscript must then conform strictly with specific formatting requirements which will be sent to you by e-mail).

1. Title page must include: title of the paper, names of authors (including full first names), abbreviated institutional affiliations, running title (not more than 50 characters), key words (max. 5), number of figures, tables and references, DDBJ/EMBL/GenBank or Pathbase accession numbers (if applicable) and the postal address, telephone and fax numbers and e-mail address of the corresponding author. The e-mail addresses of all authors should be included on a separate sheet.
2. Abstract should consist of a maximum of 250 words summarizing the aim of the report, the methodological approach used and the significance of the results obtained.

3. Text must be written in clear, concise English and typed double-spaced throughout. Non-English speaking authors should have their papers revised by a native English speaking scientist. Our Editorial Office can facilitate contact with recommended agencies if required. Manuscripts should be checked with your software "Spelling" function, to detect typographical errors, before submitting to the Editorial Office. Avoid complex formatting as this will be done by our copy editors.

4. References No specific format is required before paper acceptance.

5. Illustrations Each figure should be presented individually on a separate page. Only carefully produced, high quality images will be considered for publication. Color: One full color page is printed free of charge and additional color pages are charged at the subsidized rate of US$ / Euro 110 per page to help cover costs of color production.

6. Electronic Supplementary Material: Videos, long nucleotide or peptide sequences and other complementary material can be considered for electronic publishing on the Web of the journal. The format and application used to view the material should be specified.

SUBMISSION OF MANUSCRIPTS

Send four high quality copies of the complete manuscript and illustrations together with a copy of the text of the manuscript on diskette to either the Editor-in-Chief or to one of the Associate Editors shown below. A list of the names and complete addresses of 5 potential referees may also be included. NOTE: For online submission, please contact ijdb@lg.ehu.es.

Juan M. Aréchaga (Editor-in-Chief), Dept. of Cell Biology, Faculty of Medicine, University of the Basque Country, E-48940 Leioa, Vizcaya, SPAIN. Tel: +34-94-601-2874. Fax: +34-94-464-8966. e-mail: ijdb@lg.ehu.es.

PAPERS ACCEPTED FOR PUBLICATION, PROOFS AND REPRINTS

Once an article has been considered to be acceptable for publication by the Editor, the author will be requested to format the corresponding manuscript in accordance with a series of Guidelines (see: <http://www.ijdb.ehu.es/mschecklist.rtf>) before sending for final publishing to the Editorial Office at the following address:

The International Journal of Developmental Biology. Editorial Office.

Department of Cell Biology and Histology,
Faculty of Medicine,
University of the Basque Country,
E-48940 Leioa, Vizcaya, SPAIN.
Tel: +34-94-601-2874. Fax: +34-94-464-8966.

Journal Cover Authors are encouraged to submit illustrations, together with a corresponding legend, as candidates for the Journal Cover. The illustration does not necessarily have to be directly from the author's paper but must be related to the subject matter. Cover illustrations will be chosen on the basis of their scientific content, esthetic quality and resolution. The author who submits the definitive cover illustration will receive his/her reprints bound with the cover picture at no extra cost.

Proofs will be sent to authors for final corrections by e-mail in PDF format. They should be returned to the Editorial Office within 48 h, together with a reprint order form. 30 free Reprints are sent to authors (postal charge=US$/Euro 42). Additional reprints can be ordered when corrected proofs are returned to the IJDB Editorial Office.

Note: In order to reduce mailing expenses, rejected manuscripts will not be returned to authors, unless specifically requested.

The International Journal of Developmental Biology is a not-for-profit journal, made by scientists, for scientists. Proceeds are put back into the journal to maintain low publication costs and subscription rates.
