

General Information and Publishing Rights: Contributions are classified as Review Article, Original Article, Short Communication, or Case Study and must be submitted in English. Instructions and information are accessible at www.europeentrauma.net. Manuscripts must be submitted exclusively online. The online submission process can directly be accessed via <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/ejt>. Data should be in MS-DOS (Windows) format. If possible, save the document in Word format, other wise save the text in the rich text format (rtf). Please do not include in the file any layout instructions such as placements for graphics and avoid end-of-line hyphenation. Use carriage returns only to end heading and paragraphs, not to break lines of text. Please save tables and figures each as separate files, do not integrate them in the text. It should be possible to identify the figure by its file name. Additional electronic supplementary material may be submitted, for information see masthead page of the journal.

In a covering letter, ALL authors must confirm with their signature that the submitted paper, or parts of it, have not been published previously and is not under consideration for publication elsewhere. It is the authors' responsibility to obtain permission from other publishers to reproduce illustrations, tables, etc. Acceptance of a manuscript is based on the evaluation by several reviewers (peer review). Once the manuscript is accepted for publication, all rights are retained by the publisher. The publication, or parts of it, may neither be translated into other languages nor reproduced by any mechanical or electronic means (including photocopying, recording, and microfilm) nor stored in a retrieval system without the publisher's written permission. Rejected manuscripts and illustrations will not be returned to authors.

Ethical and Legal Prerequisites: Manuscripts involving examinations of volunteers and patients must include a statement that the trial protocol has been approved by an ethics committee and thus meets the standards of the Declaration of Helsinki of 1975 as revised in 2000 (JAMA 2000;284:3043–5). Information suitable to reveal the patient's or volunteer's identity is to be avoided. Manuscripts involving the use of laboratory animals must clearly state the adherence to appropriate guidelines and approval of the protocols by their institutional review boards has to be indicated.

Reports on Randomized Controlled Trials (RCTs) should be prepared according to the revised CONSORT statement (Moher D, Schulz KF, Altman D. The CONSORT statement: revised recommendations for improving the quality of reports of parallel-group randomized trials. JAMA 2001;285:1987–91). The report must state explicitly how the comparison groups were assembled, allowing the reader to assess the method of randomization. Please specify in the title and summary that the manuscript is a report on an RCT. When an RCT is submitted, the authors should refer to the "Check list for Authors Submitting Randomized Controlled Trials" available at www.consort-statement.org. Checklist and flow diagram should be submitted with the manuscript, as they will be included in the review process.

Preparation of Manuscripts: The manuscript must be double spaced with 3-cm margins (left and right). The text (including the abstract) should be limited to 30 manuscript pages for review articles, 20 pages for original articles, 10 pages for other contributions, tables, figures, and references not included. Accepted manuscripts are edited according to the publisher's style rules. All pages should be numbered consecutively, starting with the title page. Articles should be structured as follows: Abstract and Key Words, Introduction, Materials and Methods (optionally Patients and Methods), Results, Discussion, optionally Acknowledgments, References, Tables, Table and Figure legends, and Figures. The title page must include the following information: Title and short title, each author's full name, affiliation; postal address of the corresponding author including phone and fax numbers as well as e-mail address. Articles must contain a structured Abstract not exceeding 250 words. Abstracts should not include any references, tables, figures, or references to figures and tables. Each article must have 3–5 key words. It is the sole responsibility of the author to ensure that registered trade names are marked with the superscript registration symbol [®] or [™]. Acknowledgments should be placed directly after the text and before the list of references. Tables and figures should be numbered in arabic numerals in the sequence of their occurrence in the text and provided separately. Carriage returns must not be used within tables. Figures must be of high quality and should be saved and named according to the figure number in tiff-, eps- or jpeg (Highest Quality) format (with a resolution of at least 300 dpi). Please take care to use a large enough typeset for any text in the graphics. References must only cite work that has been published or is in press. Each reference should be cited in the text by a number in square brackets. References should be numbered in the order in which they appear in the text (not alphabetically). The number of references is limited to 40 with the exception of review articles. Journal citations must include all authors, title of article, name of journal abbreviated according to Index Medicus (www.nlm.nih.gov), e. g.: Olsen I, Solberg CO, Finegold SM. A primer on anaerobic bacteria and anaerobic infections for the uninitiated. Infection 1999;27:159–65. Book citations must include all authors of chapter cited, title of chapter, editors of book, title of book, place, publisher, year of publication, first and last page numbers, e. g.: Gingell D, Vince S. Long-range forces and adhesion. An analysis of cell-substratum studies. In: Curtis ASC, Pitts JD, eds. Cell adhesion and motility. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1980:1–37. Authors are responsible for the accuracy and completeness of their references and for correct citation.

Galley Proofs: Proofs are sent to the corresponding author and should be corrected using internationally accepted signs and returned immediately. An order form for reprints will be sent with the galley proof by the publisher; this form should be returned with the proofs to the publisher. Correspondence regarding accepted manuscripts and proofs should be directed to the publisher Urban & Vogel GmbH, Munich.
