

INFORMATION FOR AUTHORS

Research and Theory for Nursing Practice: An International Journal, formerly Scholarly Inquiry for Nursing Practice, is a fully international journal. It will focus on research and theory issues relevant to improving nursing practice and patient care. The journal will publish articles that address or integrate theory, research, and practice, with a direct bearing on practice. We invite articles that discuss knowledge development in its broadest sense, those that reflect research using a variety of methodologic approaches, and those that combine several methods and strategies in a single study. Because of the journal's international emphasis, we ask authors to address the implications of their study for an international audience.

Manuscript Preparation and Review: Author(s) may submit manuscripts electronically using Editorial Manager: <http://editorialmanager.com/rtnp/>. Manuscripts should be formatted as follows: double-spaced, and using margins of at least 1 inch on all sides. Maximum length is usually 20 pages excluding references, but manuscripts of varying lengths will be considered. A cover page should include the following: title; author(s) name(s), credentials, and primary affiliation(s); date; name, address, and phone number (plus fax and e-mail address, if possible) of the person who will receive correspondence.

The manuscript must conform to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA, 5th edition, 2001) in matters of style and formatting including the text, references, tables, digital files for any figures (tiff at 300ppi or eps), and written permission for previously published materials. A brief abstract (no more than 200 words) should accompany the manuscript. Authors should supply a list of four to six keywords that describe the scientific content of the manuscript. The keywords will be used for indexing in bibliographic databases.
