

Journal of African History

The Journal of African History publishes articles and book reviews ranging widely over the African past, from the late Stone Age to the present. The thematic range is equally broad, covering social, economic, political, cultural and intellectual history. Many articles have explored themes which are also of growing importance to historians of other regions such as: gender roles, demography, health and hygiene, propaganda, legal ideology, slavery and the slave trades, labour histories, nationalism and resistance, environmental history, the construction of ethnicity, ideas of time, and photographs as historical sources. Contributions dealing with precolonial historical relationships between Africa and the African diaspora are especially welcome, as are historical approaches to the post-colonial period.

1. Submissions

Articles submitted for publication should be sent to one of the Editors at the following addresses:

Dr Gareth Austin, Department of Economic History, London School of Economics and Political Science, Houghton Street, London, WC2A 2AE UK (Email g.m.austin@lse.ac.uk)

Professor Iris Berger, History Department, Ten Broeck 105, University of Albany, 1400 Washington Avenue, Albany, NY 12222, USA (Email iberger@albany.edu)

Dr Anne Mager, Department of Historical Studies, University of Cape Town, Rondebosch 7700, Cape Town, South Africa (Email mager@humanities.uct.ac.za)

Professor Richard Roberts, Department of History, Stanford University, Stanford, CA 94305, USA (Email rroberts@leland.stanford.edu)

Books for review should be sent to Dr Gareth Austin.

Contributors should keep in mind the general readership for whom they are writing and relate their findings specifically to relevant secondary literature.

Submission of a paper will be taken to imply that it is unpublished and is not being considered for publication elsewhere. Authors of articles published in the journal assign copyright to Cambridge University Press (with certain rights reserved) and you will receive a copyright assignment form for signature on acceptance of your paper.

Contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any material in which they do not hold copyright and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgements are included in their manuscript.

2. Manuscript preparation

Authors may submit contributions in either English or French. They should not exceed about 7500 words (excluding notes), except with the prior approval of the Editors. Where appropriate, carefully drawn maps, photographs, and other illustrations should accompany the text. An abstract of the contents of the article, not exceeding about 100 words, should be included at the head of the main text immediately after the title and Author.

Contributors should seek clarity, brevity, and simplicity of expression and avoid long sentences and unduly lengthy or short paragraphs. They should closely observe the conventions set out below ('Format and Style'). Print-outs must be checked personally before despatch, to remove accidental errors.

3. Format and Style

Spelling (in English) may follow either British or American convention but must be consistent. African words and names should conform to the orthography of the International African Institute. In referring to people, Bantu prefixes should normally be omitted: thus 'Luganda', 'Buganda', but 'a Ganda', 'the Ganda'. Quotations of more than forty words or so should begin on a new line, indented from the left-hand margin.

Italics should be used only for the names of publications and for words in languages other than English. Foreign words should be used only when necessary, and then only with a translation in parentheses. Figures should be used for units of measurement, percentages (to be shown in the form '7 per cent', not '7%'), and any number which includes a decimal point. Spell out other numbers up to ten and multiples of ten up to one hundred ('seven', 'twenty', but '25', '127', and '10,000'). Cite dates in the form '12 February 1968' (or 'Feb.' in source-references). Express sequences in the briefest form possible ('68-9', but '1911-12', '1849-50').

4. Notes

Notes should be footnotes not endnotes. They should be numbered consecutively throughout the article and typed double spaced. Citations of references should be made only in the notes and not in the text, and there should be no separate bibliography. First references should be given in the full, thus: S. Johnson, The History of the Yorubas (Lagos, 1921); E. W. Smith, 'Sebetwane and the Makololo', African Studies, 15 (1956), 49-74. All subsequent references should be given in abbreviated form, thus: Johnson, History, 43; Smith, 'Sebetwane', 65, except that ibid. should be used to refer to an immediately preceding citation of a title. Loc. cit. and op. cit. should not be used. Do not abbreviate periodical titles. Archival citations should be as brief as is consistent with clarity. The identity and location of each archive must be fully spelled out where it is first cited.

Maps should be prepared where the topography is important for an understanding of the text. Maps should if possible be camera-ready and show all relevant information, but only such information as is mentioned in the text. Photographs should specifically enhance the text and carry full captions and attributions.

5. Proofs

Typographical or factual errors only may be changed at proof stage. The publisher reserves the right to charge authors for correction of non-typographical errors.

6. Offprints

25 offprints of each article and review article will be supplied free to the first named author. Extra copies may be purchased from the publisher if ordered at proof stage.
