

The Journal of Modern African Studies

Editorial Statement

The Journal offers a quarterly survey of politics, economics, and related topics in contemporary Africa. The main emphasis is upon the peoples and policies, the problems and progress of this dynamic and disparate continent; upon the many societies that are evolving rather than the essential characteristics of the old; upon the present, not on the more distant past. The best current work is presented from specialists in different academic disciplines whose contributions can illuminate and cross-fertilise one another. Editorial policy avoids commitment to any political viewpoint or ideology. The Journal seeks to promote a deeper understanding of what is happening in Africa today.

Contributions

All correspondence and contributions should be addressed to:

Professor Christopher Clapham
Editor of the JMAS
Centre of African Studies,
Free School Lane,
Cambridge
CB2 3RQ
UK

Email: csc34@cam.ac.uk

Contributions are invited from all over the world, and especially from scholars working in African universities. Articles written in languages other than English will be considered on their merits, and where necessary translation will be arranged. The average length suggested is 5,000 to 7,000 words, with occasional exceptions of up to 10,000 words.

A more detailed set of instructions regarding manuscript preparation is available from the editor and will soon be appearing on this page.

Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, and has not been submitted for publication elsewhere. If an author is publishing a related article elsewhere, this fact should be stated. Authors of articles published in the journal assign copyright to Cambridge University Press (with certain rights reserved) and you will receive a copyright assignment form for signature on acceptance of your paper.

Contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any material in which they do not own copyright, to be used in both print and electronic media, and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgements are included in their manuscript.

Proofs

First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the editors, by airmail where appropriate, within seven days of receiving them. Typographical or factual errors only may be changed at proof stage. The publisher reserves the right to charge authors for correction of non-typographical errors.

Offprints

Authors of articles and review articles (but not book reviews) receive twenty-five free offprints. Additional copies may be bought if ordered at proof stage.
