- 1. Online Manuscript Submission: Springer now offers authors, editors and reviewers of the Journal of Gambling Studies the use of our fully web-enabled online manuscript submission and review system. To keep the review time as short as possible, we request authors to submit manuscripts online to the journal's editorial office. Our online manuscript submission and review system offers authors the option to track the progress of the review process of manuscripts in real time. Manuscripts should be submitted to: <http://jogs.edmgr.com>

The online manuscript submission and review system for the Journal of Gambling Studies offers easy and straightforward log-in and submission procedures. This system supports a wide range of submission file formats: for manuscripts — Word, WordPerfect, RTF, TXT and LaTeX; for figures — TIFF, GIF, JPEG, EPS, PPT, and Postscript. PDF is not an acceptable file format.

NOTE: In case you encounter any difficulties while submitting your manuscript online, please get in touch with the responsible Editorial Assistant by clicking on CONTACT US from the tool bar.
2. Submission is a representation that the manuscript has not been published previously and is not currently under consideration for publication elsewhere. A statement transferring copyright from the authors (or their employers, if they hold the copyright) to Human Sciences Press, Inc. will be required before the manuscript can be accepted for publication. The Editors will supply the necessary forms for this transfer. Such a written transfer of copyright, which previously was assumed to be implicit in the act of submitting a manuscript, is necessary under the U.S. Copyright Law in order for the publisher to carry through the dissemination of research results and reviews as widely and effectively as possible.
3. Type double-spaced on one side of 8 ½ × 11 inch white paper using generous margins on all sides, and submit the original and four copies (including copies of all illustrations and tables). All copies must be dark, sharp, and clear. Computer-generated manuscripts must be of letter quality (not dot-matrix).
4. A title page is to be provided and should include the title of the article, author's name (no degrees), institutional affiliation (usually university or company), date of submission, and acknowledgments. For office purposes, the title page should include the complete mailing address, telephone number, fax number, and e-mail address of the one author designated to review proofs.
5. An abstract is to be provided, preferably no longer than 200 words. The abstract should include the objective of the study (research question, research design used, setting (where data come from), sample size and main characteristics (number female and male, and mean age where applicable), main outcome measures used, major results (should comprise most of the abstract), and major conclusions.
6. A list of 3–5 key words is to be provided directly below the abstract. Key words should express the precise content of the manuscript, as they are used for indexing purposes.
7. Illustrations (photographs, drawings, diagrams, and charts) are to be numbered in one consecutive series of Arabic numerals. The captions for illustrations should be typed on a separate sheet of paper. All illustrations must be complete and final, i.e., camera-ready. Photographs should be large, glossy prints, showing high contrast. Drawings should be high-quality laser prints or should be prepared with india ink. Either the original drawings or high-quality photographic prints are acceptable. Artwork for each figure should be provided on a separate sheet of paper. Identify figures on the back with author's name and number of the illustration. Lettering on illustrations should be large enough to permit reduction.

8. Tables should be numbered (with Arabic numerals) and referred to by number in the text. Each table should be typed on a separate sheet of paper. Center the title above the table, and use column headings. Single and double asterisks indicate 5% and 1% significance levels, respectively.
9. Equations must be embedded in the text, and important displayed equations identified by consecutive Arabic numerals in parentheses to the right of the equation. Expressions should be aligned, and compound subscripts and superscripts clearly marked if there is potential for confusion. Indicate italic with an underline, and boldface with a wavy underline. Clarify symbols with circled notes in the margins.
10. List references alphabetically at the end of the paper and refer to them in the text by name and year in parentheses. Where there are three or more authors, only the first author's name is given in the text, followed by et al. The style is adapted from the Notice to Contributors in American Sociological Association publications (permission granted) — illustrated by the following examples:

11. Footnotes should be avoided. When their use is absolutely necessary, footnotes should be numbered consecutively using Arabic numerals and should be typed at the bottom of the page to which they refer. Place a line above the footnote, so that it is set off from the text. Use the appropriate superscript numeral for citation in the text.
12. In general, the journal follows the recommendations of the 1994 Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (Fourth Edition), and it is suggested that contributors refer to this publication.
13. The journal makes no page charges. Reprints are available to authors, and order forms with the current price schedule are sent with proofs.
14. Springer Open Choice. In addition to the normal publication process (whereby an article is submitted to the journal and access to that article is granted to customers who have purchased a subscription), Springer now provides an alternative publishing option: Springer Open Choice. A Springer Open Choice article receives all the benefits of a regular subscription-based article, but in addition is made available publicly through Springer's online platform SpringerLink. To publish via Springer Open Choice, upon acceptance please visit www.springeronline.com/openchoice to complete the relevant order form and provide the required payment information. Payment must be received in full before publication or articles will publish as regular subscription-model articles. We regret that Springer Open Choice cannot be ordered for published articles.
