

The Journal of Media Psychology publishes original, high-quality research from all areas of media psychology and neighboring disciplines, with a focus on the uses and effects of various personal and mass media. The scope of the journal is defined by the discipline and by methodological breadth, so quantitative, qualitative, comparative, and noncomparative papers are published. To name just a few typical fields and domains of inquiry, the Journal of Media Psychology considers manuscripts dealing with research on entertainment, parasocial interaction, human-computer interaction, e-learning and blended learning, computer and video games, virtual environments, or advertising. Multidisciplinary contributions and papers that deal with such issues from a comparative and/or transnational perspective are especially welcome. Original empirical research should be based on pertinent theory, and the extent to which a paper succeeds in advancing the theoretical knowledge in the relevant field will be a major criterion for publication. An important goal of the Journal of Media Psychology is to provide a particularly fast outlet for such research, a goal achieved through a variety of measures. In particular, the journal relies upon a fast electronic exchange of information, beginning with the electronic transmission of manuscripts, throughout the entire review process, and also for proofing.

Please read the following information carefully before submitting a document to the Journal of Media Psychology.

All manuscripts should be submitted online at <http://www.editorialmanager.com/jmp>. Please follow the online instructions for submission. Should you have any technical queries regarding this process, please contact Juliane Munson, Hogrefe Publishing (E-mail journalsproduction@hogrefe.com, Tel. +49 551 99950-422, Fax +49 551 99950-425). Please direct any editorial questions to the editorial office, E-mail contact jmp@uni-koeln.de.

Review Process. All manuscripts are subject to anonymous peer review. An editorial decision on research papers will as a rule be made within 6 weeks. Based on the title and abstract, two or more reviewers will be requested to review the manuscript. Reviewers will be asked to complete their review within 4 weeks. The editor responsible for the manuscript makes his or her editorial decision and notifies the corresponding author of the result, usually within 2 working days after receiving the reviewers' feedback. There are three kinds of decisions: accept, accept conditionally (on minor changes), and reject. Rejected manuscripts can be resubmitted after substantial revision, but they will be treated as new manuscripts. The entire review process is completely reliant on electronic communication in order to ensure speedy processing.

Categories of Papers. Original Research Papers, regardless of methodology, may contain up to 8,000 words, including abstract, text, references, notes, appendices, as well as figures and tables. An allowance for any tables and figures should be deducted from the above depending on their size (approximately 200 words per quarter print page). Theoretical Articles provide state-of-the-art overviews of research in pertinent areas, or presentations of innovative theories and models for media psychology; they may also focus on methodological issues relevant for the discipline. The specifications are the same as for original research papers. Research Reports will typically focus on methods, such as the development of a new questionnaire, or they may feature smaller empirical studies. Research reports may contain up to 4,000 words, again including abstract, text, references, notes, appendices, and an allowance for any tables and figures depending on their size (approximately 200 words per quarter print page).

Manuscript Format and Style. Manuscripts should be prepared according to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). In particular, statistical and mathematical copy, reference citations in the text and the reference list proper should conform to the Publication Manual.

Each manuscript must include the following: (a) Corresponding author: Name and complete address, including email and telephone and fax number(s); (b) Names and affiliations of all authors; (c) A brief biography (up to 50 words) for each author; (d) A photo of each author. An abstract (maximum length 250 words) should be provided, as well as a maximum of 5 key reference terms. Figures and tables should be numbered using Arabic numerals. The number of figures and tables should be kept to a minimum and only be included to facilitate understanding of the text. The same information should not appear in both a figure and a table. Each table and figure must be cited in the text and should be accompanied by a legend on a separate sheet. Please note that online submission via the Editorial Manager allows text, figures, and tables to be submitted as separate files. Figures must be supplied in a form suitable for reproduction: preferably high-resolution bitmaps (e.g., jpg, 300 dpi) or as vector graphics files. Figures will normally be reproduced in black and white only. While it is possible to reproduce color illustrations, authors are reminded that they will be invoiced for the extra costs involved.

Proofs. PDF proofs will be sent to the corresponding author. Changes of content or stylistic changes may only be made in exceptional cases in the proofs. Corrections that exceed 5% of the typesetting costs may be invoiced to the authors.

Offprints. Hogrefe will send the corresponding author of each accepted paper free of charge an e-offprint (PDF) of the published version of the paper when it is first released online. This e-offprint is provided for the author's personal use, including for sharing with coauthors (see also "Online Rights for Journal Articles" in the Advice for Authors on the journal's web page at www.hogrefe.com).

Copyright Agreement. By submitting an article, the author confirms and guarantees on behalf of him-/herself and any co-authors that the manuscript has not been submitted or published elsewhere, and that he or she holds all copyright in and titles to the submitted contribution, including any figures, photographs, line drawings, plans, maps, sketches, and tables, and that the article and its contents do not infringe in any way on the rights of third parties. The author indemnifies and holds harmless the publisher from any third party claims. The author agrees, upon acceptance of the article for publication, to transfer to the publisher the exclusive right to reproduce and distribute the article and its contents, both physically and in nonphysical, electronic, or other form, in the journal to which it has been submitted and in other independent publications, with no limitations on the number of copies or on the form or the extent of distribution. These rights are transferred for the duration of copyright as defined by international law. Furthermore, the author transfers to the publisher the following exclusive rights to the article and its contents:

1. The rights to produce advance copies, reprints, or offprints of the article, in full or in part, to undertake or allow translations into other languages, to distribute other forms or modified versions of the article, and to produce and distribute summaries or abstracts.
2. The rights to microfilm and microfiche editions or similar, to the use of the article and its contents in videotext, teletext, and similar systems, to recordings or reproduction using other media, digital or analog, including electronic, magnetic, and optical media, and in multimedia form, as well as for public broadcasting in radio, television, or other forms of broadcast.
3. The rights to store the article and its content in machine-readable or electronic form on all media (such as computer disks, compact disks, magnetic tape), to store the article and its contents in online databases belonging to the publisher or third parties for viewing or downloading by third parties, and to present or reproduce the article or its contents on visual display screens, monitors, and similar devices, either directly or via data transmission.
4. The rights to reproduce and distribute the article and its contents by all other means, including photomechanical and similar processes (such as photocopying or facsimile), and as part of so-called document delivery services.
5. The right to transfer any or all rights mentioned in this agreement, as well as rights retained by the relevant copyright clearing centers, including royalty rights to third parties.

Online Rights for Journal Articles. Guidelines on authors' rights to archive electronic versions of their manuscripts online are given in the Advice for Authors on the journal's web page at www.hogrefe.com.
