

The Zeitschrift für Psychologie, originally founded in 1890, is the oldest psychology journal in Europe and the second oldest in the world. Now, reflecting the change in the lingua franca of science from German to English, it is being published completely in English.

The Zeitschrift für Psychologie publishes high-quality research from all branches of empirical psychology that is clearly of international interest and relevance, and does so in four topical issues per year.

Each topical issue is carefully compiled by guest editors and generally features one broad Review Article accompanied by Original Articles from leading researchers as well as additional shorter contributions such as Research Spotlights (presenting details of individual studies or summaries of particularly interesting work in progress), Horizons (summarizing important recent or future meetings or outlining future directions of work), and Opinion pieces that provide a platform for both established and alternative views on aspects of the issue's topic. The guest editors and the editorial team are assisted by an experienced international editorial board and external reviewers to ensure that the journal's strict peer-review process is in keeping with its long and honorable tradition of publishing only the best of psychological science. The subjects being covered are determined by the editorial team after consultation within the scientific community, thus ensuring topicality.

The Zeitschrift für Psychologie thus brings convenient, cutting-edge compilations of the best of modern psychological science, each covering an area of current interest.

Please read the following information carefully before submitting a document to Zeitschrift für Psychologie:

A call for papers is issued for each topical issue. Current calls are available on the journal's website at www.hogrefe.com/journals/zfp. Manuscripts should be submitted as Word or RTF documents via e-mail attachment to either the responsible guest editor(s) or the Editor-in-Chief (Prof. Dr. Bernd Leplow, Institute of Psychology, University of Halle-Wittenberg, Brandbergweg 23, D-06120 Halle, Germany, Tel. +49 345 552-4358(9), Fax +49 345 552-7218, E-mail bernd.leplow@psych.uni-halle.de). Names of authors are usually made known to reviewers, although blind reviewing is available on request. Authors who prefer blind reviewing should state this when first submitting their manuscript and should remove all potentially identifying information from the manuscript, replacing names and any indication of the university where a study was conducted by neutral place-holders.

The Title Page of each paper or article should include, in the following order: Title of the article; author name(s) (preceded by first names, but with no academic titles given); name of the institute or clinic (if there is more than one author or institution, affiliations should be indicated using superscript Arabic numerals); and an address for correspondence (including the name of the corresponding author with fax and phone numbers).

An Abstract (maximum length 150 words) should be provided on a separate page for original and review articles. A maximum of 5 keywords should be given after the abstract.

Reference Citations in the text and in the reference list proper should follow conventions listed in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association 6th ed., referred to hereinafter as the APA Manual. For example:

Tables should be numbered using Arabic numerals. Tables must be cited in the text (e.g., "As shown in Table 1, ..."). Each table should be printed on a separate sheet. Below the table number, a brief descriptive title should be given; this should then be followed by the body of the table. It is recommended that each table should also include a brief explanatory legend.

Figures should be numbered using Arabic numerals. Each figure must be cited in the text (e.g., "As illustrated in Figure 1, ...") and should be accompanied by a legend on a separate sheet. As online submission requires papers to be submitted as one file, figures and tables etc. should be embedded or appended to the paper and not be sent as separate files. However, upon acceptance of an article, it may be necessary for figures to be supplied separately in a form suitable for better reproduction: preferably high-resolution (300 dpi) or vector graphics files. Where this is necessary, the corresponding author will be notified by the publishers. Figures will normally be reproduced in black and white only. While it is possible to reproduce color illustrations, authors are reminded that they will be invoiced for the extra costs involved.

Length of Articles: Manuscripts submitted should not exceed the following lengths (including references, tables, and figures): Review articles – 60,000 characters and spaces (approx. 8,500 words); original articles – 50,000 characters and spaces (approx. 7,000 words); Research Spotlights – 20,000 characters and spaces (approx. 2,800 words); Opinion – 9,000 characters and spaces (approx. 1,200 words); Horizons – 9,000 characters and spaces (approx. 1,200 words).

Scientific Nomenclature and Style: Authors should follow the guidelines of the APA Manual regarding style and nomenclature. Authors should avoid using masculine generic forms in their manuscripts. General statements about groups of people should be written in gender-neutral form; when presenting examples, authors may alternate between female and male forms throughout their text.

Language: It is recommended that authors who are not native speakers of English have their papers checked and corrected by a native-speaker colleague before submission. Standard US American spelling and punctuation as given in Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary should be followed.

Proofs: PDF proofs will be sent to the corresponding author. Changes of content or stylistic changes may only be made in exceptional cases in the proofs. Corrections that exceed 5% of the typesetting costs may be invoiced to the authors.

Offprints: Hogrefe will send the corresponding author of each accepted paper free of charge an e-offprint (PDF) of the published version of the paper when it is first released online. This e-offprint is provided for the author's personal use, including for sharing with coauthors (see also "Online Rights for Journal Articles" in the Advice for Authors on the journal's web page at www.hogrefe.com).

Copyright Agreement: By submitting an article, the author confirms and guarantees on behalf of him-/herself and any co-authors that the manuscript has not been submitted or published elsewhere, and that he or she holds all copyright in and titles to the submitted contribution, including any figures, photographs, line drawings, plans, maps, sketches, and tables, and that the article and its contents do not infringe in any way on the rights of third parties. The author indemnifies and holds harmless the publisher from any third-party claims.

The author agrees, upon acceptance of the article for publication, to transfer to the publisher the exclusive right to reproduce and distribute the article and its contents, both physically and in nonphysical, electronic, or other form, in the journal to which it has been submitted and in other independent publications, with no limitations on the number of copies or on the form or the extent of distribution. These rights are transferred for the duration of copyright as defined by international law. Furthermore, the author transfers to the publisher the following exclusive rights to the article and its contents:

1. The rights to produce advance copies, reprints, or offprints of the article, in full or in part, to undertake or allow translations into other languages, to distribute other forms or modified versions of the article, and to produce and distribute summaries or abstracts.
2. The rights to microfilm and microfiche editions or similar, to the use of the article and its contents in videotext, teletext, and similar systems, to recordings or reproduction using other media, digital or analog, including electronic, magnetic, and optical media, and in multimedia form, as well as for public broadcasting in radio, television, or other forms of broadcast.
3. The rights to store the article and its content in machine-readable or electronic form on all media (such as computer disks, compact disks, magnetic tape), to store the article and its contents in online databases belonging to the publisher or third parties for viewing or downloading by third parties, and to present or reproduce the article or its contents on visual display screens, monitors, and similar devices, either directly or via data transmission.
4. The rights to reproduce and distribute the article and its contents by all other means, including photomechanical and similar processes (such as photocopying or facsimile), and as part of so-called document delivery services.
5. The right to transfer any or all rights mentioned in this agreement, as well as rights retained by the relevant copyright clearing centers, including royalty rights to third parties.

Online Rights for Journal Articles: Guidelines on authors' rights to archive electronic versions of their manuscripts online are given in the Advice for Authors on the journal's web page at www.hogrefe.com.
