

Environmental Politics Style Guide for Authors

- Articles to be sent to the Chair of the Editorial Board: Professor Andrew Dobson, SPIRE, Keele University, Keele, Staffordshire, ST5 5BG UK; email: a.n.h.dobson@intr.keele.ac.uk. Two hard copies, and one electronic copy, as an e-mail attachment in Word.

Font: Times New Roman

- Word limit: 8000, including notes and references
- Harvard referencing, as follows:
 - The textual reference should give the author's surname, the date of publication and the page reference within brackets in the form:

(Culler 1998:20)

This is the same for books, journal articles, chapters in an edited book or PhD theses.

- Personal communications and unpublished data should be fully attributed in the list of references.
- Works by the same author (or group of authors) in the same year should be cited as 1998a, 1998b, etc.
- et al. can be used for works by three or more authors if there is no possible ambiguity. The names of the co-authors should, however, be given in the list of references.
- Several citations together should be listed consistently in either date order (Smith 1990; Culler 1998; Williams 2002) or in alphabetical order (Culler 1998; Smith 1990; Williams 2002).
- All published works referred to in the text must be included in one alphabetical list of references at the end of the article. Similarly, all works in this reference list must be cited in the text.
- The list of references should take the following form:

Books:

Baranzini, M. and Scazzieri, R. (eds.) (1990) The Economic Theory of Structure and Change (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press).

Journal articles:

Higginbotham, J. (1983) 'On semantics', Linguistic Inquiry 16(3): 547-94.

Chapters in an edited volume:

Morishima, M. (1990) 'Economic theory and industrial revolution', in Baranzini and Scazzieri (eds.), pp. 175-97

There is no need to give full publication details if the edited volume is included in the List of References in its own right.

Citing websites

It is the author's responsibility to ensure that any external websites mentioned in the book are correct and active. Websites should be cited in roman without angle brackets: <http://www.cambridge.org>. Date of accessing the website should be recorded after the reference in the List of References.

The reference list

Include the List of References at the end of your article.

Also note:

1. British spelling
2. endnotes rather than footnotes
3. notes to be kept to a minimum – they, and the list of references, are included in the word limit
4. author's details & acknowledgements at bottom of article's first page
5. articles to be preceded by a 150-word abstract, avoiding use of the first person singular or plural.
