

The Journal of the American Academy of Psychiatry and the Law

The Journal, published by the American Academy of Psychiatry and the Law, is intended to be a forum for the exchange of multidisciplinary ideas. Manuscripts are welcomed that deal with the interfaces of psychiatry and the legal system and the theory and practice of forensic psychiatry. This includes correctional psychiatry, psychiatric evaluation of individuals involved with the criminal or civil legal system, ethics, the philosophy of law, legal regulation of psychiatric practice, education and training in the field, and research into causes and treatment of behavioral problems that manifest themselves particularly in individuals who are in contact with the legal system.

Regular and Special articles are subject to a blind peer review process. Editorials, Commentaries, and other articles that by their nature do not lend themselves to standard blind review are evaluated for style, clarity, consistency, and suitability.

All articles represent the opinions of the authors and not those of the editors. Except where specifically stated, published articles are not official statements of the American Academy of Psychiatry and the Law.

Instructions for Authors

Manuscripts are considered for publication with the understanding that their essential substance has not been published previously and has not been submitted simultaneously to other publications. Manuscripts should be double-spaced throughout (including references), not justified, with at least one-inch margins.

For peer-reviewed articles, submit the original manuscript and reproduction quality artwork (glossy photographs, line drawings, or computer-generated figures are acceptable), five copies, and a covering letter to Ezra E. H. Griffith, MD, Editor, Dept. of Psychiatry, Yale University School of Medicine, 25 Park Street, 6th Floor, New Haven, CT 06519.

For the non-peer-reviewed Analysis and Commentary section of the Journal, contact Michael Norko, MD, Deputy Editor, Law & Psychiatry Division, Connecticut Mental Health Center, 34 Park St. New Haven, CT 06519 (tel 203-974-7488, email: michael.norko@po.state.ct.us)

to discuss proposed submissions.

To request a Book Reviewer interest form, contact: Deborah Giorgi-Guarnieri, MD, 212 Fairfax Way, Williamsburg, VA 23185.

Ethics in Research

For investigations involving human or animal subjects, the authors must state in the methods section that an appropriate institutional review board (IRB) approved the project or exempted the project from review. A copy of the IRB letter should accompany the manuscript. Authors without access to an IRB are encouraged to discuss alternatives with the editor. The methods section should also describe the manner in which informed consent was obtained from the subjects.

Technical Requirements

Include the address, phone number, ~~and~~ fax number and e-mail address of the corresponding author on all manuscripts. When a manuscript is accepted for publication, the authors are expected to submit a computer disk containing the complete and final version of the manuscript. A paper copy of the manuscript and all tables and figures must be submitted with the disk.

Manuscripts should be submitted in the following order:

1. Title page: running head (maximum 50 character spaces); title; author(s) (first name, middle initial, surname, and degrees). Title page should also include author affiliations; grants (if applicable); where presented (if applicable); disclaimer (if applicable; e.g., "The views expressed in this article do not necessarily reflect the official DVA policy"), and address for correspondence.

2. Abstract: one-paragraph summary of 150 words or less

3. Text

4. Acknowledgments (if any)

5. Appendix or Addendum (if any)

6. References should be numbered consecutively with Arabic numerals as they appear in the text (number each source citation as a separate item; but the same reference number may be cited more than once in the text). In general, the style for references, tables, and figures should conform to the specific reference formats listed in the next section. When quotations are included in the text, the specific page number of the reference must be given. References are limited to citations. The Journal does not allow footnotes.

7. Figure legends numbered with Arabic numbers in order of appearance in the text

8. Tables numbered with Arabic numbers in order of appearance in the text.
