

Methodology is the official organ of the European Association of Methodology. This association is a union of methodologists working in different areas of the social and behavioral sciences (e.g., psychology, sociology, economics, educational and political sciences). The aim of the journal is to present a platform for an interdisciplinary exchange of methodological research and applications in the different fields. The journal will be open for publishing new methodological approaches, review articles, software information, and instructional papers that can be used in teaching. There are three main disciplines to be covered: data analysis, research methodology, and psychometrics. The articles published in the journal should not only be accessible to methodologists but also to more applied researchers in the different disciplines.

Submission of Manuscripts

Submission of manuscripts is taken to imply that neither the manuscript nor any component of it has already been published or is currently under consideration by another journal. All contributions must be sent to one of the two editors, preferably by e-mail:

- Nekane Balluerka, Departamento de Psicología Social y Metodología de las Ciencias del Comportamiento, University of the Basque Country, 20018 San Sebastián, Spain (Tel. +34 943 018339, Fax +34 943 015670, E-mail methodologyjournal@ehu.es)
- Joop Hox, Department of Methods & Statistics, University of Utrecht, P.O.B. 80140, NL-3508 TC Utrecht, The Netherlands (Tel. +31 30 253-9236, E-mail MethodologyJournal.fsw@uu.nl)

Manuscripts should preferably be submitted as one file containing text, tables, and all figures. The file should be named after the last name of the first author, and its extension should designate its format, e.g., smith.doc. Standard word processor files, text editor files, and LaTeX files are permitted; LaTeX files must always be accompanied by a highquality PDF file. Figures are accepted in high resolution tif and eps formats. Manuscripts should not exceed 6,000 words, including references, appendices, tables, and figures, with a maximum of 6 figures. Tables and figures should be on separate pages. The manuscript pages should be numbered consecutively. A separate title page should contain the title of the paper, position and affiliation of authors, a one-paragraph summary of no more than 150 words, and between 4 and 8 keywords to appropriately define the subject. The manuscript should be attached to an e-mail that contains the following information: Contact information for the corresponding author (name, department, postal address, e-mail address, phone, fax); Contact information for all authors; The word count; A text version of the title, abstract, and keywords; Any other information that will guarantee a fair and unbiased review process.

If a manuscript should, as an exception, be submitted by regular mail, four printed copies as well as a disk/CD containing a PDF file and a cover letter with the information detailed above should be submitted to one of the editors.

Manuscript Style. Manuscripts should be prepared according to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). In particular, statistical and mathematical copy, references (including DOIs) and their text citations should conform to the Publication Manual. Appropriate ethical guidelines should have been followed in the conduct of research and data gathering.

Language. All manuscripts should be submitted in English. It is strongly recommended that nonnative speakers of English have their manuscripts edited and corrected by a native-speaker colleague before submission. In some cases, the journal will also accept manuscripts written in any of the official languages of the European Union if the subject matter of the paper requires this. An English translation must also be provided; both versions will then be published in parallel in the journal.

Final Manuscript. The final version of an accepted manuscript should be in either Microsoft Word or RTF format. If it is absolutely unavoidable, TeX/LaTeX files will also be accepted, but only when they are accompanied by a high-quality PDF file and a Microsoft Word file.

Offprints. Hogrefe will send the corresponding author of each accepted paper free of charge an e-offprint (PDF) of the published version of the paper when it is first released online. This e-offprint is provided for the author's personal use, including for sharing with coauthors (see also "Online Rights for Journal Articles" in the Advice for Authors on the journal's web page at www.hogrefe.com).

Copyright Agreement. By submitting an article, the author confirms and guarantees on behalf of him-/herself and any coauthors that he or she holds all copyright in and titles to the submitted contribution, including any figures, photographs, line drawings, plans, maps, sketches and tables, and that the article and its contents do not infringe in any way on the rights of third parties. The author indemnifies and holds harmless the publisher from any third party claims.

The author agrees, upon acceptance of the article for publication, to transfer to the publisher the exclusive right to reproduce and distribute the article and its contents, both physically and in nonphysical, electronic, and other form, in the journal to which it has been submitted and in other independent publications, with no limits on the number of copies or on the form or the extent of the distribution. These rights are transferred for the duration of copyright as defined by international law. Furthermore, the author transfers to the publisher the following exclusive rights to the article and its contents:

1. The rights to produce advance copies, reprints, or offprints of the article, in full or in part, to undertake or allow translations into other languages, to distribute other forms or modified versions of the article, and to produce and distribute summaries or abstracts.
2. The rights to microfilm and microfiche editions or similar, to the use of the article and its contents in videotext, teletext, and similar systems, to recordings or reproduction using other media, digital or analog, including electronic, magnetic, and optical media, and in multimedia form, as well as for public broadcasting in radio, television, or other forms of broadcast.
3. The rights to store the article and its content in machine-readable or electronic form on all media (such as computer disks, compact disks, magnetic tape), to store the article and its contents in online databases belonging to the publisher or third parties for viewing or downloading by third parties, and to present or reproduce the article or its contents on visual display screens, monitors, and similar devices, either directly or via data transmission.
4. The rights to reproduce and distribute the article and its contents by all other means, including photomechanical and similar processes (such as photocopying or facsimile), and as part of so-called document delivery services.
5. The right to transfer any or all rights mentioned in this agreement, as well as rights retained by the relevant copyright clearing centers, including royalty rights to third parties.

Online Rights for Journal Articles. Guidelines on authors' rights to archive electronic versions of their manuscripts online are given in the Advice for Authors on the journal's web page at www.hogrefe.com.