

Population, English Edition

NOTICE TO CONTRIBUTORS

The Editors welcome original contributions to human population studies, including those that address the causes and consequences of population change.

Authors agree not to submit their manuscript to any other journal pending the decision of the Editorial Committee, or at least for a period of four months. Manuscripts should not exceed the equivalent of 24 pages in Population format, including tables, figures, abstract and references (i.e. 76,000 characters including blank spaces). Articles must be accompanied by an abstract of 160–200 words.

Submitted papers are reviewed by the Editorial Board in a meeting held every two months, on the basis of a report prepared by one of its members and of written comments from at least one external reviewer. The author is then informed of the Committee's decision; in case of rejection or request for modifications, the reasons for the decision are explained to the author in the light of the reports and of discussions during the meeting.

The "Short Papers" section presents articles that deal with a specific topic and use unpublished data or a comparative approach. They are reviewed by the Editorial Board and by an external referee. They should not exceed 10 pages of Population (or 32,000 characters).

The "Comments" section features reactions to articles published in the journal and the author's response (whenever possible, these will appear in the same issue). The Editors decide whether to publish all or part of these submissions. Comments are limited to 3 pages of Population (or 10,000 characters), with the exception of methodological developments duly justified and approved by the Committee.

The Editors reserve the right to modify the form of the submissions. Any change of content, however, will be discussed with the author. All contributors will have the opportunity to review the proofs.

Preparation of manuscripts

- Text, tables and figures

The manuscript, including the tables and figures in the body of the text, should be submitted with the abstract to the Population Editors as hard copy and as electronic copy by e-mail (population@ined.fr), preferably in MS-Word format.

Figures and maps should also be sent in a separate file, accompanied, where applicable, by the datasets that were used to produce them (notably for Excel graphs). Authors should ensure that the title and legend are clearly indicated on each figure.

- Equations

They should be numbered in the right-hand margin and be legibly presented.

- Footnotes

They are numbered sequentially and should include no table or illustration.

- References

They are presented at the end of the article, in alphabetical order and chronologically for each author. They are indicated in the text as: (Ekert-Jaffé et al., 2002) or (Laslett, 1977) or by numbers between brackets: [1]. They should adopt the following style:

— For an article in a journal:

EKERT-JAFFÉ O., JOSHI H., LYNCH K., MOUGIN R., RENDALL M., 2002, "Fertility, timing of births and socio-economic status in France and Britain: social policies and occupational polarization", Population-E, 57(3), pp. 475-508.

—For a book:

—LASLETT Peter, 1977, Family Life and Illicit Love in Earlier Generations. Essays in Historical Sociology, Cambridge/London/New York, Cambridge University Press, 270 p.

Offprints

Each author will receive 15 free offprints.

The author may request additional offprints when sending back the corrected proofs.

Contributors do not receive payment.

Correspondence to:

Rédaction de Population
Institut national d'études démographiques
133 bd Davout
75980 Paris Cedex 20, France
E-mail: population@ined.fr

Population is referenced in the following databases:

- The INED library catalogue (<http://www.ined.fr>) contains all the articles since 1946;
- Francis* (CNRS) in <http://www.inist.fr/index.fr.php>;
- Review of Population Reviews*, CICRED (<http://www.cicred.org>);
- Current Contents* (<http://www.isinet.com>) on subscription;
- Social Sciences Citation Index* (<http://www.isinet.com>) on subscription;
- Population Index* (<http://popindex.princeton.edu>) updated to 2000;
- Popline* (<http://db.jhucpp.org/popinform/basic.html>).

The complete texts of Population, English Edition (as well as the defunct English Selection) are available, on subscription, in the JSTOR database (<http://www.jstor.org>).