

Contents

|                                                                                     |             |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| Contributors                                                                 | xi   |
| Abbreviations                                                                | xiii |
| Preface                                                                      | xv   |
| 1 Outline of theory of protein electron transfer. C.C. Moser and P.L. Dutton | 1    |
| Introduction                                                                        | 1           |
| Fundamental tunnelling theory                                                       | 2           |
| Simple electron tunnelling through a barrier                                        | 2           |
| Fermi's golden rule                                                                 | 2           |
| Marcus theory and nuclear geometries                                                | 3           |
| Tunnelling in proteins                                                              | 8           |
| Characteristic free energy dependence of biological electron tunnelling             | 8           |
| Characteristic distance dependence of biological electron tunnelling                | 9           |
| A simple three-parameter predictor of rate                                          | 11          |
| Variable distance dependence                                                        | 11          |
| Redox protein engineering principles                                                | 14          |
| The dominance of distance                                                           | 14          |
| Distance and binding in interprotein electron transfer                              | 15          |
| Distance and stability themes in intraprotein charge separation                     | 16          |
| The role of adiabaticity                                                            | 17          |
| References                                                                          | 18          |
| 2 The protein bridge between redox centres. D.N. Beratan and J.N. Onuchic    | 23   |
| Introduction                                                                        | 23          |
| What tunnels?                                                                       | 23          |
| Strong versus weak electronic coupling regimes                                      | 24          |
| Tunnelling electrons                                                                | 25          |
| Basics of vibronically coupled electron tunnelling                                  | 26          |
| Tunnelling energetics                                                               | 26          |
| How does exponential decay arise from delocalized bridge states?                    | 27          |
| Through-bond and through-space decay length scales                                  | 28          |
| Tunnelling pathways in proteins                                                     | 28          |
| What is the physical meaning of the dominant pathway?                               | 29          |
| When does a simple product approximate the tunnelling matrix element?               | 30          |
| Key role for hydrogen bonds predicted                                               | 31          |

|                                                                            |           |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| Predictions of the tunnelling pathway model                                | 31        |
| Tests of pathway predictions                                               | 33        |
| Pathways in the exponential distance regime                                | 33        |
| Docking and intermolecular ET                                              | 33        |
| Concerns related to simple pathway analysis                                | 35        |
| Beyond the single pathway view                                             | 36        |
| What is the physical meaning of a tunnelling pathway?                      | 36        |
| Multipath models and electron/hole propagators                             | 37        |
| Hamiltonian-based models of electronic coupling in proteins                | 38        |
| Current challenges                                                         | 39        |
| References                                                                 | 40        |
| 3 Interprotein electron transfer. D.S. Bendall                      | 43 |
| Introduction                                                               | 43        |
| Kinetics of electron transfer reactions in solution                        | 44        |
| Diffusional kinetics of complex formation                                  | 45        |
| The nature of diffusional encounter                                        | 45        |
| Ionic strength effects                                                     | 46        |
| Microscopic electrostatic methods                                          | 48        |
| Macroscopic electrostatic methods                                          | 49        |
| Binding forces and binding energies                                        | 53        |
| Non-covalent sources of binding energy                                     | 53        |
| Specificity and binding energy                                             | 54        |
| Statics and dynamics of reaction complexes                                 | 57        |
| The static view                                                            | 58        |
| The dynamic view                                                           | 59        |
| Conclusions                                                                | 63        |
| References                                                                 | 64        |
| 4 Computer modelling of protein-protein interactions. S.H. Northrup | 69 |
| Introduction                                                               | 69        |
| Model building of electron transfer complexes                              | 69        |
| Diffusional dynamics of protein-protein association                        | 70        |
| Alternative docking geometries for electron transfer                       | 71        |
| Influence of protein flexibility and internal dynamics                     | 71        |
| Theoretical methodologies                                                  | 72        |
| Modelling of protein structure                                             | 72        |
| Calculation of protein electrostatic fields                                | 73        |
| Brownian dynamics equation of motion                                       | 74        |
| Extraction of rate constants                                               | 75        |
| Treatment of excluded volume effects                                       | 77        |
| Reaction criteria                                                          | 77        |
| Results                                                                    | 78        |
| Cytochrome reaction rate constants with distance cut-off model             | 78        |
| Protein-protein docking in the cytochrome c -CCP reaction           | 80        |

|                                                                                                                                              |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| CDNP-derivatized cytochrome c reactions with CCP                                                                                      | 83  |
| Extension to surface side chain flexibility                                                                                                  | 84  |
| Treatment of the cytochrome c -CCP reaction with self-consistent electrostatics                                                       | 85  |
| Self-exchange reactions using the exponential reactivity model                                                                               | 85  |
| Site-directed mutants of CY: reactions with cytochrome b <sub>5</sub>                                                                 | 86  |
| Energy refinement and analysis of Brownian dynamics-generated complexes                                                                      | 88  |
| Summary                                                                                                                                      | 91  |
| References                                                                                                                                   | 94  |
| 5 Structure of electron transfer proteins and their complexes.                                                                        |     |
| F.S. Mathews and R.C.E. Durley                                                                                                        | 99  |
| Introduction                                                                                                                                 | 99  |
| Cytochromes and cupredoxins                                                                                                                  | 100 |
| Cytochromes                                                                                                                                  | 100 |
| Cupredoxins                                                                                                                                  | 102 |
| Two-site proteins                                                                                                                            | 103 |
| Ascorbate oxidase                                                                                                                            | 103 |
| Flavocytochromes                                                                                                                             | 105 |
| Complexes between redox proteins                                                                                                             | 112 |
| Complex of MADH with amicyanin and cytochrome c -551 <sub>i</sub>                                                                     | 112 |
| Cytochrome c peroxidase                                                                                                               | 116 |
| Activity of crystals                                                                                                                         | 119 |
| Flavocytochrome b <sub>2</sub>                                                                                                        | 119 |
| The MADH system                                                                                                                              | 120 |
| Complex dynamics                                                                                                                             | 120 |
| References                                                                                                                                   | 121 |
| 6 Photosynthetic bacterial reaction centres. W.W. Parson                                                                       | 125 |
| Introduction                                                                                                                                 | 125 |
| Reaction centre structures                                                                                                                   | 126 |
| Charge separation and competing reactions                                                                                                    | 129 |
| The free energies and enthalpies of $P^+Q_A^-$ and $P^+H_L^-$                                                                                | 133 |
| Kinetics and mechanism of the initial charge separation                                                                                      | 135 |
| Vibrational relaxations of $P^*$ and $P^+H_L^-$                                                                                              | 137 |
| The role of the 'accessory' BChl ( $B_L$ )                                                                                                   | 139 |
| Calculations of interaction matrix elements and radical pair energies                                                                        | 141 |
| The roles of individual amino acid residues in controlling the rate, temperature dependence and directional specificity of charge separation | 143 |
| Contributions to the directional specificity from orbital overlap, internal charge transfer states of P and dielectric asymmetry             | 144 |
| Computer simulations                                                                                                                         | 146 |
| Electron transfer from bacteriopheophytin $H_L^-$ to $Q_A$                                                                                   | 147 |
| References                                                                                                                                   | 148 |

|           |                                                                                            |            |
|-----------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 7  | Copper proteins. O. Farver                                                   | 161 |
|           | Introduction                                                                               | 161        |
|           | Ligand structure                                                                           | 162        |
|           | Redox potentials and spectroscopic properties                                              | 165        |
|           | Role of ligand geometry on ET                                                              | 168        |
|           | ET pathway calculations                                                                    | 169        |
|           | Pathways in protein-protein ET                                                             | 169        |
|           | Azurin                                                                                     | 170        |
|           | Plastocyanin                                                                               | 172        |
|           | Intramolecular LRET in type-1 copper proteins                                              | 175        |
|           | Azurin                                                                                     | 175        |
|           | Other blue copper proteins                                                                 | 178        |
|           | ET in type-2 copper proteins                                                               | 178        |
|           | Intramolecular LRET in blue oxidases                                                       | 179        |
|           | ET pathways in proteins: conclusion                                                        | 183        |
|           | References                                                                                 | 183        |
| 8  | Haemoproteins. G.R. Moore                                                    | 189 |
|           | Introduction                                                                               | 189        |
|           | Structures of haems                                                                        | 191        |
|           | Tertiary structures of haemoproteins                                                       | 194        |
|           | Control of redox potentials                                                                | 198        |
|           | Intraprotein electron transfer                                                             | 202        |
|           | Interprotein electron transfer                                                             | 205        |
|           | Coupled electron-ion transfers                                                             | 210        |
|           | References                                                                                 | 212        |
| 9  | Electron transfer complexes coupled to ion translocation.                           |            |
|           | P.R. Rich                                                                           | 217        |
|           | Introduction                                                                               | 217        |
|           | Principles of coupling                                                                     | 217        |
|           | The chemiosmotic theory                                                                    | 217        |
|           | The vectorial redox loop                                                                   | 218        |
|           | Protein structure and the proton well                                                      | 219        |
|           | The importance of local electroneutrality within the reaction core                         | 220        |
|           | Structure and mechanism of complexes                                                       | 223        |
|           | Enzymes catalysing components of larger chemiosmotic systems                               | 224        |
|           | The bc complexes                                                                    | 225        |
|           | Ionmotive NADH dehydrogenases                                                              | 229        |
|           | Protonmotive oxidases                                                                      | 234        |
|           | Applications to other systems and future prospects                                         | 241        |
|           | References                                                                                 | 242        |
| 10 | Electron transfer reactions in chemistry. Theory and experiment. R.A. Marcus | 249 |
|           | Electron transfer experiments since the late 1940s                                         | 249        |
|           | The early experience                                                                       | 251        |

|                                        |     |
|----------------------------------------|-----|
| Developing an electron transfer theory | 252 |
| Introduction                           | 252 |
| Reaction rate theory                   | 253 |
| Electron transfer theory. Formulation  | 254 |
| Electron transfer theory. Treatment    | 257 |
| Predictions                            | 260 |
| Comparisons of experiment and theory   | 262 |
| Other applications and extensions      | 266 |
| References                             | 270 |
| Further reading                        | 272 |

Appendices

|                                                                                 |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| A Electron transfer rate calculations. J.N. Onuchicand D.N. Beratan | 273 |
| The ET Hamiltonian                                                              | 273 |
| Two-level systems                                                               | 274 |
| $E_{\text{tun}}$ and the Condon approximation                                   | 275 |
| Born–Oppenheimer approximation                                                  | 276 |
| Rate expressions                                                                | 276 |
| References                                                                      | 282 |
| B Kinetic analysis. D.S. Bendall                                         | 285 |
| Introduction                                                                    | 285 |
| Observed rate constants                                                         | 285 |
| First order and pseudo-first order reactions                                    | 285 |
| Second order reactions                                                          | 287 |
| Kinetic models                                                                  | 287 |
| Reversible reactions                                                            | 288 |
| Two binding sites and rearrangement                                             | 288 |
| Ionic strength effects                                                          | 290 |
| References                                                                      | 292 |
| Index                                                                    | 295 |