

CONTENTS

Contributors.....	vii
Preface.....	ix
Acknowledgments.....	xi
Part I: General Description of the Model MC1
1 History and General Description of the Dynamic Global Vegetation Model MC1 Dominique Bachelet	3
2 Historical Climate and Suppression Effects on Simulated Fire and Carbon Dynamics in the Conterminous United States James M. Lenihan and Dominique Bachelet	17
3 Challenges and Limitations of Using a DGVM for Local to Regional Applications Dominique Bachelet, Brendan M. Rogers, and David R. Conklin	31
4 The Making of a Dynamic General Vegetation Model, MC1 Ronald P. Neilson	41
Part II: Examples of Projects Using MC1 at Various Spatial Scales
5 A Brief Description of the VINCERA Project; Vulnerability and Impacts of North American Forests to Climate Change: Ecosystem Responses and Adaptation David T. Price, Daniel Scott, Mark R. Lomas, Daniel W. McKenney, Dominique Bachelet, Raymond J. Drapek, James M. Lenihan, Ronald P. Neilson, F. I. Woodward, and Jonathan A. Foley	61
6 Continent-wide Simulations of a Dynamic Global Vegetation Model over the United States and Canada under Nine AR4 Future Scenarios Raymond J. Drapek, John B. Kim, and Ronald P. Neilson	73
7 Drivers of Future Ecosystem Change in the US Pacific Northwest: The Role of Climate, Fire, and Nitrogen Brendan M. Rogers, Dominique Bachelet, Raymond J. Drapek, Beverly E. Law, Ronald P. Neilson, and John R. Wells	91
8 Application of MC1 to Wind Cave National Park: Lessons from a Small-Scale Study David A. King, Dominique Bachelet, and Amy J. Symstad	115
9 Simulating Effects of Climate and Vegetation Change on Distributions of Martens and Fishers in the Sierra Nevada, California, Using Maxent and MC1 Wayne D. Spencer, Heather Rustigian-Romsos, Ken Ferschweiler, and Dominique Bachelet	135
Part III: Packaging MC1 Results to Increase Its Usability by Managers
10 Using a Dynamic Global Vegetation Model to Help Inform Management Decisions Joshua S. Halofsky, Jessica E. Halofsky, David R. Conklin, Dominique Bachelet, Miles A. Hemstrom, Becky K. Kerns, and Anita T. Morzillo	153

11 Bringing MC1 Model Results to Data Basin to Facilitate Access, Distribution, and Interpretation Dominique Bachelet and the CBI Data Basin team	171
Appendix: Publications and Reports Featuring MC1	177
Glossary	183
Index	185