

TABLE OF CONTENTS, VOLUME III

Chapter 1
Altered Methionine Metabolism and Unbalanced Methylation: A Possible Basis for the Dynamic Phenotype of Cancer	1
R. M. Hoffman
Chapter 2
Determination of Histidine, 1-Methylhistidine and 3-Methylhistidine in Biological Samples by HPLC; Clinical Application of Urinary 3-Methylhistidine in Evaluating the Muscle Protein Breakdown in Uremic Patients	9
G. Ali Qureshi, A. Gutierrez, A. Alvestrand, and J. Bergstrom
Chapter 3
Role of Glutathione and N-Acetylcysteine as Inhibitors of Mutagenesis and Carcinogenesis	19
S. De Flora, C. Bannicelli, D. Serra, A. Izzotti, and C. F. Cesarone
Chapter 4
Dietary Amino Acids, Eating Behavior, and Trichothecene Mycotoxins	55
T. K. Smith, K. R. Cavan, and E. J. MacDonald
Chapter 5
Amino Acid Precursors of Biogenic Amines	67
B. O. Eggum, N. E. Hansen, and H. Sørensen
Chapter 6
Absorption and Metabolism of Heated Protein-Carbohydrate Mixtures in Humans	91
H. F. Erbersdobler, A. Gross, U. Klusmann, and K. Schlecht
Chapter 7
Effect of Heat on Tryptophan in Food: Chemistry, Toxicology, and Nutritional Consequences	103
J. L. Cuq and M. Friedman
Chapter 8
Methods for Determining Bioavailability of Amino Acids for Poultry	129
M. E. Whitacre and H. Tanner
Chapter 9
Kinetics of Protein Degradation in the Rumen	143
G. A. Broderick
Chapter 10
Transport of Nitrogenous Compounds by the Gastrointestinal Tract	159
C. R. Baumrucker, F. Guerino, and G. B. Huntington
Chapter 11
The Utilization of Free and Protein-Bound Lysine	175
J. Leibholz

Chapter 12
Rumen Protected Amino Acids in Ruminant Nutrition	187
S. C. Loerch and B. O. Oke
Chapter 13
Amino Acid Digestibility in Pigs as Affected by Diet Composition	201
L. A. den Hartog, M. W. A. Verstegen, and J. Huisman
Chapter 14
Considerations in Methodology for the Determination of Amino Acid Digestibilities in Feedstuffs for Pigs	217
W. Sauer, M. Dugan, K. de Lange, M. Imbeah, and R. Mosenthin
Chapter 15
A Comparison of In Vitro Enzymatic and Rat Balance Methods for Measuring Digestibility of Protein and Amino Acids in Foods	231
G. Sarwar, L. Savoie, R. W. Pearce, and G. Parent
Chapter 16
The Resistance to Proteolytic Breakdown of Some Plant (Seed) Proteins and Their Effects on Nutrient Utilization and Gut Metabolism	243
R. Begbie and A. Pusztai
Chapter 17
Chemistry and Analysis of Amino Acids	265
B. O. Eggum and H. Sørensen
Index	297
