

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction: On Inheritance and Subjectivity	xi
PART I: THEORETICAL INHERITANCES	1
1 Toward a Hermeneutic Approach to Biological Discourses	3
2 The Structure of Sight: Foucault's Early Analysis of the Life Sciences	41
PART II: ECOLOGICAL INHERITANCES	59
3 Subjectivity in the Extended Inheritance Theory of Evolution	67
4 Genetic Transformation into Structure	93
5 The Space of Life: Reflections on the Ontological Consequences of the Secondary Inheritance Theory of Evolution	115
PART III: MICROBIAL INHERITANCES	131
6 Microbes Colonizing Humanism	137
7 Horizontal Gene Transfer: On the Ontological Consequences of the Horizontal Inheritance of DNA	153
8 Being One and Many: Microbial Symbiosis and Inheritance	169

9 A Concrecence of Inheritances vs. the Metaphysically Present Individual	193
Bibliography	203
Index	215