

Contents

---

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Preface                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | VII |
| Chapter 1 Biodiversity, Ecology and Toxic Principles in Plants- Case Study: Fungal BiocontrolCecilia Peluola                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 1   |
| Chapter 2 People, Parks and Poverty:Integrated Conservation and DevelopmentInitiatives in the Free State Province of South AfricaAndré Pelser, Nola Redelinghuys and Nontombi Velelo                                                                                                                                                           | 15  |
| Chapter 3 Challenges of Linking Socio-EconomicSignificance and Conservation Value ofForests in Drylands of Kenya: Case Study ofKirisia Forest-Samburu Pastoralists CoexistenceJoseph Hitimana, James Legilisho Ole Kiyiapi,Pauline Wambui Kibugi, Humphrey Kisioh, Rose Mayienda,Fiesta Warinwa, Philip Lenaiyasa and Daudi Sumba | 43  |
| Chapter 4 European Naturalists and Medicinal Plants of BrazilMaria G. L. Brandão, Cristiane F. F. Graef and Christopher W. Fagg                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 77  |
| Chapter 5 The Potential of Biodiversity in the Andean Region:Use, Conservation and RegulationsIngrid Schuler G., Elizabeth Hodson de Jaramilloand Luis Antonio Orozco C.                                                                                                                                                                        | 97  |
| Chapter 6 The Medicinal Value of Biodiversity:New Hits to Fight CancerGiselle Z. Justo, Ana C. S. Souza, Ângelo de Fátima,Matheus F. F. Pedrosa, Carmen V. Ferreira and Hugo A. O. Rocha                                                                                                                                                        | 121 |
| Permissions                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |     |
| List of Contributors                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |     |