

Publisher's Preface

Amphibians of the Pacific Northwest is the most recent in the long and rich history of Seattle Audubon Society's publications in support of our mission to cultivate and build a community that values and protects birds and the natural environment. These publications engage us in Seattle Audubon's vision of a healthy environment in balance with nature, where people enjoy, respect and care for the natural resources that sustain the community of life. Amphibians of the Pacific Northwest is a new book that expands on the previous Amphibians of Washington and Oregon, published by Seattle Audubon Society in 1995.

Seattle Audubon Publications Committee members Constance Sidles (production editor), Darie Ransom (designer) and Nick Gargano (production artist) deserve our special thanks for their contributions to the professional design, layout and production of this book. The Seattle Audubon Society also thanks those who generously donated the content of this book: the manuscripts, the maps and one-time use of photographs. Special thanks go to editors Lawrence L.C. Jones, William P. Leonard and Deanna H. Olson. William P. Leonard in particular worked tirelessly with the Publications Committee on every aspect of the book. We also wish to thank the USDA Forest Service and the Society for Northwestern Vertebrate Biology for their support and financial assistance.
