

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I acknowledge with appreciation the assistance of the following:

The original supervisors of my PhD during the 1990's: Professor Nick Harvey, Geography; Professor Anthony Radford, Architecture; and Dr. John Brebner, Psychology. I could not have done it without their guidance and wisdom.

The many thousands of individuals who have participated in my many online surveys – again without them there would be no project results.

The hundreds of researchers over the past several decades who have devoted their time and intellect to understanding landscape quality and advancing our understanding of it. Truly I have built on the shoulders of giants!

My family who have endured my absences on photography trips for projects or, if with me, endured stopping frequently to take photos.

My wife, Cynthia, sister Janet, daughter Clare and various friends who provided editorial assistance.

Professor Ian Bishop who graciously agreed to write the forward which necessitated him reading much of the book.

To all of these I extend my heartfelt appreciation and thanks.
