

Preface

We feel delighted to write the preface for the "Textbook of Plant Physiology". Yet as plant biologists we realize that time always limits what can be presented in a plant physiology course. Hence, it has been our assignment to choose and summarize those new finding that are most representative of the status of the science. We hope that students of undergraduate level and postgraduate as well as for those student who are preparing for competitive exam will agree with many of our choices. While writing the book we keep in the mind the syllabus of all universities and competitive exams. Special attempt has been made to make the book useful to students preparing for competitive examinations.

We are grateful to all those editors, authors and publishers whose work we have consulted in writing this book. We have no words of gratitude for my friends and students who helped me a lot and inspired all along during the preparation of this book.

We would like to express my thanks to also my publisher Astral International Pvt. Ltd. for kindly publishing this book.

The authors will greatly appreciate knowing reader's criticism and suggestions for the improvement of this book will be thankfully acknowledge on authors e-mail pramila28@gmail.com and narendramilkyway@gmail.com.
