

"There is no more literate anthropologist working today than Ian Tattersall." —SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE

A leader in the field of human evolution,

Ian Tattersall is one of those rare eminent scientists who is also a graceful and engaging writer. Here, in eight brilliant essays on evolutionary theory, he attempts to answer the most controversial questions on human origins: What makes us different from all other species? How did we get this way? With only a handful of incomplete fossil remains, how do we know?

Brimming with delightful stories and scientific wisdom, The Monkey in the Mirror takes us around the world and far into the past, offering fresh insight into the fundamental questions of our evolutionary past—and our evolving future.

A MAIN SELECTION OF THE NATURAL SCIENCE BOOK CLUB

"Eloquently details what we know about diversity among hominids and how we came to know it." —SCIENCE NEWS

"Lively, engaging ... [Raises] a host of intriguing questions." —NATURAL HISTORY

IAN TATTERSALL is curator of human evolution at the American Museum of Natural History and the author of many books and articles.

His most recent work, The Monkey in the Mirror, explores how we know what we know about our evolutionary past.

on both fossil humans and modern humans in Africa, Europe, and Madagascar, Yemen.

Cover photograph by (top) Ric
Cover design by Claudine Gue

A HARVEST BOOK / HARCOU
525 B Street, San Diego, CA 92
15 East 24th Street, New York
www.HarcourtBooks.com 010

Monkey in Mirror

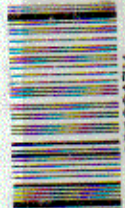

978-0-15-602706-9

50757

SD28

USED

9 780156 027069