

'In this erudite, wide-ranging and engaged work, Boria Sax explores the cultural flesh that has been wrapped around the fossilized bones of these iconic creatures. He asks, "What is a dinosaur?" and shows that the answer is not merely a scientific one but is intimately linked to wider cultural trends and concerns. Extinct they might be, but Sax reveals how dinosaurs live on among us.'

— GARRY MARVIN, Professor of Human-Animal Studies,
University of Roehampton, London, and author of Wolf (2012)

NATURAL HISTORY

ISBN 978-1-78914-004-0

9 781789 140040 >