

BIOPROSPECTING IN LIFE SCIENCES

Editors

Rajendra Kumar Behera
Ekamber Kariali

BIOPROSPECTING IN LIFE SCIENCES is exploration of our natural resources through modern technological intervention. Living organisms are most fascinating creation of nature. Human being occupies the central position among all. They can make use of both the biotic and abiotic resources maintaining ecological balance between the environment and the biotic community. 'Bioprospecting' is emerging as a new scientific discipline linked to modern Biotechnology.

This edited volume is an excellent collection of scientific articles from persons of high scientific stature especially in the fields of modern biological sciences. The book will definitely help the students, researchers and teachers for their scientific endeavor.

Key Features

- Selected 24 articles by eminent personalities of high repute from various countries
- Cancer immunotherapy: Antigen Receptor T-cells has been described
- Critically discussed wild rice Oriza rufipogon and tiller dynamics of the plants.

9788184876512 生物科学IUB

分类码:Q

通用

1 库

C0604

 Narosa
Publishing House
www.narosa.com

ISBN 978-81-8487-651-2

9 788184 876512