

Contents

Preface	page ix
Acknowledgements	xii
1 The microscopic horse	1
2 What steers evolution?	9
3 Darwin: pluralism with a single core	26
4 How to build a body	40
5 A brief history of the last billion years	54
6 Preamble to the quiet revolution	67
7 The return of the organism	76
8 Possible creatures	88
9 The beginnings of bias	105
10 A deceptively simple question	117
11 Development's twin arrows	128
12 Action and reaction	140
13 Evolvability: organisms in bits	152
14 Back to the trees	159
15 Stripes and spots	175
16 Towards 'the inclusive synthesis'	191
17 Social creatures	201
Glossary	211
References	223
Index	231