

Contents

|                                     |    |
|-------------------------------------|----|
| Contributors to Volume 42 . . . . . | xi |
| Preface . . . . .                   | xv |

From Broadstone to Zackenberg: Space, Time and Hierarchies in Ecological Networks

JENS M. OLESEN, YOKO L. DUPONT, EOIN O'GORMAN,
THOMAS C. INGS, KATRIN LAYER, CARLOS J. MELIÁN,
KRISTIAN TRØJELSGAARD, DORIS E. PICHLER,
CLAUS RASMUSSEN, AND GUY WOODWARD

|                                                       |    |
|-------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Summary . . . . .                                     | 1  |
| I. Introduction . . . . .                             | 2  |
| II. Temporal Dynamics . . . . .                       | 5  |
| III. Space-for-Time Substitution . . . . .            | 16 |
| IV. Forbidden Links and Linkage Constraints . . . . . | 26 |
| V. Habitat Borders . . . . .                          | 33 |
| VI. Modules and Hierarchies . . . . .                 | 37 |
| VII. Individual-Based Networks . . . . .              | 41 |
| VIII. Invasions . . . . .                             | 44 |
| IX. Super Networks . . . . .                          | 51 |
| X. Conclusions . . . . .                              | 54 |
| Acknowledgements . . . . .                            | 55 |
| References . . . . .                                  | 56 |

Ecological Networks in a Changing Climate

GUY WOODWARD, JONATHAN P. BENSTEAD, OLIVER S.
BEVERIDGE, JULIA BLANCHARD, THOMAS BREY, LEE
E. BROWN, WYATT F. CROSS, NIKOLAI FRIBERG, THOMAS
C. INGS, UTE JACOB, SIMON JENNINGS, MARK E. LEDGER,
ALEXANDER M. MILNER, JOSE M. MONTOYA, EOIN
O'GORMAN, JENS M. OLESEN, OWEN L. PETCHEY, DORIS E. PICHLER, DANIEL C. REUMAN, MURRAY S. A. THOMPSON,
FRANK J. F. VAN VEEN, AND GABRIEL YVON-DUROCHER

|                                                                                                                              |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Summary .....                                                                                                                | 72  |
| I. Introduction .....                                                                                                        | 72  |
| II. The Foundations of a First-Principles Approach .....                                                                     | 75  |
| A. Individuals, Species and Body Size .....                                                                                  | 75  |
| B. Experiments and Surveys at Different Scalesand Examples .....                                                         | 78  |
| III. Network Responses to Climate Change Components:Impacts of Warming on Organisms .....                                | 87  |
| A. Individual-Level Effects .....                                                                                            | 87  |
| B. Interaction-Level Effects .....                                                                                           | 89  |
| C. Population and Community-Level Effects .....                                                                              | 89  |
| D. Individual-to-Network Level Effects .....                                                                                 | 91  |
| E. Evolutionary and Biogeographical Effects of Warming .....                                                                 | 94  |
| IV. Network Responses to the Components of Climate Change:Impacts of Warming on Aqueous Media .....                      | 94  |
| A. Fluid Viscosity: Impacts on Individuals, Interactionsand Networks .....                                               | 96  |
| B. The Form and Distribution of Water in theEnvironment .....                                                            | 97  |
| V. Network Responses to the Components of Climate Change:Atmospheric Composition and Ecological Stoichiometry .....      | 100 |
| VI. Network Assembly and Disassembly: Spatial andTemporal Matches and Mismatches .....                                   | 104 |
| A. Climate Envelope Models, Invasions andExtinctions: Spatial Rewiring of Ecological Networks .....                      | 104 |
| B. Phenological Matches and Mismatches:Temporal Rewiring of Ecological Networks .....                                    | 110 |
| VII. Multiple and Interacting Components of ClimateChange .....                                                          | 114 |
| A. Combined Impacts of Warming and AtmosphericChange on Metabolism and Stoichiometry WithinEcological Networks ..... | 115 |
| B. Other Additive and Synergistic Effects of theComponents of Climate Change .....                                       | 120 |
| VIII. Conclusions .....                                                                                                      | 121 |
| Acknowledgements .....                                                                                                       | 122 |
| References .....                                                                                                             | 122 |

Scaling of Food-Web Properties with Diversity and Complexity Across Ecosystems

JENS O. RIEDE, BJÖRN C. RALL, CAROLIN BANASEK-RICHTER,
SERGIO A. NAVARRETE, EVIE A. WIETERS, MARK C. EMMERSON,
UTE JACOB, AND ULRICH BROSE

|                                                                     |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Summary . . . . .                                                   | 139 |
| I. Introduction . . . . .                                           | 140 |
| II. Methods . . . . .                                               | 142 |
| A. The Food-Web Data Set . . . . .                                  | 142 |
| B. Food-Web Topology . . . . .                                      | 143 |
| C. Statistical Analyses . . . . .                                   | 144 |
| III. Results . . . . .                                              | 145 |
| A. Complexity-Diversity Relationships . . . . .                     | 145 |
| B. Ecosystem Types and Complexity-Stability Relationships . . . . . | 146 |
| C. Topology-Diversity Relationships . . . . .                       | 148 |
| D. Ecosystem Types and Topology-Diversity Relationships . . . . .   | 151 |
| IV. Discussion . . . . .                                            | 155 |
| A. Complexity-Diversity Relationships . . . . .                     | 155 |
| B. Explanations for the Scale Dependence of Complexity . . . . .    | 156 |
| C. Topology-Diversity Relationships . . . . .                       | 159 |
| D. Ecosystem Types and Trophic Scaling Relationships . . . . .      | 160 |
| V. Conclusions . . . . .                                            | 161 |
| Acknowledgements . . . . .                                          | 166 |
| References . . . . .                                                | 166 |

Temporal Variability in Predator-Prey Relationships of a Forest Floor Food Web

ÓRLA B. McLAUGHLIN, TOMAS JONSSON,
AND MARK C. EMMERSON

|                                                                                            |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Summary . . . . .                                                                          | 172 |
| I. Introduction . . . . .                                                                  | 172 |
| A. Predictions for the Gearagh Food Web Based on Empirical Patterns of Food Webs . . . . . | 175 |
| II. Methods . . . . .                                                                      | 177 |
| A. Field Site Description . . . . .                                                        | 177 |
| B. Sampling Protocol . . . . .                                                             | 178 |
| C. Food Web Construction . . . . .                                                         | 179 |
| D. Food Web Patterns . . . . .                                                             | 180 |
| E. Statistical Analyses . . . . .                                                          | 181 |

|                                               |     |
|-----------------------------------------------|-----|
| III. Results                                  | 182 |
| A. Univariate Patterns                        | 182 |
| B. Bivariate Patterns                         | 191 |
| C. Trivariate Patterns                        | 196 |
| D. Temporal Changes in Biomass Abundances     | 198 |
| IV. Discussion                                | 200 |
| A. Food Web Patterns                          | 200 |
| B. Temporal Variability in Food Web Structure | 214 |
| C. Morphological Niche                        | 215 |
| D. Trophic Cascades and Energetics            | 216 |
| E. Food Web Construction                      | 217 |
| V. Conclusion                                 | 218 |
| Acknowledgements                              | 219 |
| References                                    | 258 |

Food Web Structure and Stability in 20 Streams Across a Wide pH Gradient

KATRIN LAYER, JENS O. RIEDE, ALAN G. HILDREW,
AND GUY WOODWARD

|                                       |     |
|---------------------------------------|-----|
| Summary                               | 265 |
| I. Introduction                       | 266 |
| II. Methods                           | 269 |
| A. Sampling of the Biota              | 269 |
| B. Food Web Construction              | 272 |
| C. Calculation of Food Web Statistics | 273 |
| D. Modelling Robustness               | 274 |
| E. Statistical Data Analysis          | 275 |
| III. Results                          | 276 |
| IV. Discussion                        | 287 |
| Acknowledgements                      | 293 |
| References                            | 294 |

Manipulating Interaction Strengths and the Consequences for Trivariate Patterns in a Marine Food Web

EOIN J. O'GORMAN AND MARK C. EMMERSON

|                                                                  |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Summary                                                          | 302 |
| I. Introduction                                                  | 302 |
| A. Why Study Food Webs?                                          | 302 |
| B. The Need for Temporal and Spatial Replicationof Food Webs | 303 |
| C. Univariate, Bivariate and Trivariate Patterns                 | 304 |

|                                                          |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| II. Methods . . . . .                                    | 307 |
| A. Natural History of the Study Site . . . . .           | 307 |
| B. Description of the Experimental Communities . . . . . | 308 |
| C. Experimental Design . . . . .                         | 309 |
| D. Food Web Sampling . . . . .                           | 310 |
| E. Food Web Construction . . . . .                       | 312 |
| F. Univariate Patterns . . . . .                         | 313 |
| G. Bivariate and Trivariate Patterns . . . . .           | 315 |
| III. Results . . . . .                                   | 315 |
| A. Univariate Patterns . . . . .                         | 315 |
| B. Bivariate Patterns . . . . .                          | 326 |
| C. Trivariate Patterns . . . . .                         | 335 |
| IV. Discussion . . . . .                                 | 338 |
| A. Univariate Patterns . . . . .                         | 338 |
| B. Bivariate Patterns . . . . .                          | 349 |
| C. Trivariate Patterns . . . . .                         | 353 |
| V. Conclusion . . . . .                                  | 353 |
| Acknowledgements . . . . .                               | 354 |
| References . . . . .                                     | 402 |
| Index . . . . .                                          | 421 |
| Cumulative List of Titles . . . . .                      | 429 |