Preface		xv
Chapter 1	Why Should Weed Scientists Care About Genomics?	3
	WILLIAM K. VENCILL
	Genomics To A Weed Scientist	3
	Resistance	4
	Better Use Of Existing Herbicides	8
Chapter 2	An Introduction To Molecular Genetic And Genomic Techniques	11
	CHHANDAK BASU AND SAM R. ZWENGER
	Weeds As A Source Of Genes For Crop Improvement	11
	Tools And Approaches For Understanding Weediness At The Molecular Level	12
Chapter 3	Arabidopsis Is Not A Weed, And Mostly Not A Good Model For Weed Genomics; There Is No Good Model For Weed Genomics	25
	JONATHAN GRESSEL
	Introduction: Arabidopsis And Weediness	25
	Questions About Weeds—Can Arabidopsis Genomics Answer Them?	27
	The Misdirected Approach In Using Arabidopsis To Elucidate New Herbicide Targets	28
	Arabidopsis Genomics Can Help In Dealing With Transgene Flow— In A Limited Manner	29
	Lessons To Be Learned	30
Chapter 4	Model Weeds For Genomics Research	33
	WUN S. CHAO AND DAVID P. HORVATH
	What Makes A Good Model Species?	34
	Leveraging From Other Models	36
	Genomics Tools For Weeds That Are Under Development	44
Chapter 5	21st-Century Weed Science: A Call For Amaranthus Genomics	53
	PATRICK J. TRANEL AND FEDERICO TRUCCO
	The Amaranthus Genus	53
	Hybridization And Adaptive Evolution	61
	Herbicide Resistance	64
	Currently Available Genomic Resources	71
	Needs And Opportunities	75

Chapter 6	Evolutionary Genomics Of Weedy Rice	83
	BRIANA L. GROSS AND KENNETH M. OLSEN
	Phenotypic Diversity Of Weedy Rice	84
	Genomic Diversity Of Weedy Rice	85
	The Origin(s) And Evolution Of Weedy Rice	89
	The Genetic Basis Of Weediness And Use Of Weedy Rice In Crop Breeding	94
Chapter 7	Rhizomatousness: Genes Important For A Weediness Syndrome	99
	ANDREW H. PATERSON
	Developmental Context	100
	An Exemplary Case: Johnsongrass	101
	Dissecting The Genetic Control Of Rhizomatousness	103
	Early Insights Into The Sorghum Rhizo-Transcriptome	105
	Future Work And Potential Applications	107
	Synthesis	109
Chapter 8	Leafy Spurge: An Emerging Model To Study Traits Of Perennial Weeds	113
	DAVID P. HORVATH AND JAMES V. ANDERSON
	Regulation Of Shoot Development And Growth	113
	Regulation Of Bud Dormancy	116
	Case Study: Leafy Spurge	117
	Future Work	122
Chapter 9	Herbicide Resistance: Target Site Mutations	127
	CHRISTOPHER PRESTON
	Resistance To Photosystem II-Inhibiting Herbicides	128
	Resistance To Acetohydroxyacid Synthase-Inhibiting Herbicides	131
	Resistance To Acetyl Coenzyme A Carboxylase-Inhibiting Herbicides	136
	Resistance To Glyphosate	138
	Resistance To Microtubule Assembly Inhibitors	140
	Resistance To Phytoene Desaturase Inhibitors	141
Chapter 10	Molecular and Genomic Mechanisms Of Non-Target-Site Herbicide Resistance	149
	JUN HU, PATRICK J. TRANEL, C. NEAL STEWART JR., AND JOSHUA S. YUAN
	Herbicide Application And Resistance	149
	Herbicide Classification And Resistance	150
	Non-Target Herbicide Resistance	150
	Signal Transduction	150
	Detoxification and Modification	151
Chapter 11	A Herbicide Defense Trait That Is Distinct From Resistance: The Evolutionary Ecology And Genomics Of Herbicide Tolerance	163
	REGINA S. BAUCOM
	Resistance Versus Tolerance In Weed Science	163
	Tolerance In Evolutionary Ecology	166
	Tolerance Traits And The Genomics Of Tolerance	171

	Why Again Should We Focus On Tolerance, Tolerance Traits, And The Genomics Of Tolerance?	172
Chapter 12	The Genomics of Plant Invasion: A Case Study In Spotted Knapweed	177
	AMANDA K. BROZ AND JORGE M. VIVANCO
	Why Study Invasive Plant Genomics?	177
	Spotted Knapweed Life History	178
	Allelopathy And The Novel Weapons Hypothesis	180
	Genomics Resources And Approaches For Studying Spotted Knapweed	185
Chapter 13	Molecular Ecology Of Plant Competition	197
	DOMINIK D. SCHMIDT, MERIJN R. KANT, AND IAN T. BALDWIN
	Competition Signals And Their Perception By Plants	198
	Molecular Basis Of Competitively Important Traits	207
	Transcriptomic Insights Into Competitive Interactions Of Weedy Plants	211
Chapter 14	Genomics And Weeds: A Synthesis	221
	STEPHEN O. DUKE, SCOTT R. BAERSON, AND JONATHAN GRESSEL
	From Fundamental Information To Practical Solutions	222
	Where Do We Go From Here?	241
	Index	249
