

AUTHORS' NOTE

The idea for this book grew out of the production of a television film about research into the role of white blood cells as defenders of the body by Dr. James G. Hirsch and others at Rockefeller University. The program, "The Secret in the White Cell," was one of eight in a series called Experiment, underwritten by the Sloan Foundation and the National Science Foundation and produced for National Educational Television by Prism Productions, Inc.