

The Bobbs-Merrill Studies in Sociology

General Editors:

Gerald Marwell
Samuel F. Sampson

Marcello Truzzi
Maurice Zeitlin

In this unique series of individual studies, written from diverse points of view about the major fields of sociology, the authors explain why it is intellectually interesting and worthwhile to examine the subject matter of the field, critically review what they consider to be the field's most significant research and writing on central theoretical and methodological issues, and offer suggestions for further reading. The papers vary widely in the perspectives brought to them by their authors, but each study, whatever the issue or perspective, is an important statement about its field.
