

Students Write to Professor Sdorow . . .

"Well, it's 2:40 A.M. on a Wednesday night, and I've just finished reading Chapter 14 of my Psychology textbook. I must say, it makes interesting bedtime reading! . . . First, I would like to comment that it is an extremely well-written work. . . . The examples given really help clarify [content] and are interesting enough to hold attention. Second, I feel that the text is very well organized and easy to follow."

Introductory Psychology Student • University of Kentucky

"Style of writing is casual, easy to read and relate to. Concepts are portrayed clearly throughout."

Introductory Psychology Student • University of Manitoba

Reviewers Write about Sdorow's Psychology . . .

"He does a wonderful job of presenting complex work simply. I wish I could write as well."

Elaine Hatfield, Ph. D. • University of Hawaii

"Sdorow writes well. He has a feel for students and his choice for examples suggests that he is tuned to both the subject of psychology and the audience of young people (with examples that also relate to the older student). A good mix."

Frank J. Vattano, Ph. D. • Colorado State University

"It is beautifully written."

Sara Staats, Ph. D. • The Ohio State University

About the Author . . .

Lester Sdorow currently teaches psychology at Beaver College and Lafayette College. He received his M.A. and Ph.D. from Hofstra University. Les also chaired the psychology departments of both St. Francis College and Allentown College. He received the prestigious Teacher of the Year Award while at Allentown College and Educator of the Year while at St. Francis College. Les lectures regularly at regional and national psychology conferences on the teaching of undergraduate psychology. He is currently working on the first edition of Biopsychology:

Principles, Applications, and Issues.

WCB Brown &
Benchmark
P U B L I S H E R S

ISBN 0-697-15062-3

9 780697 150622