

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC FIELD GUIDE TO THE BIRDS OF EASTERN NORTH AMERICA

Packed with dynamic new features that make birding more rewarding than ever—and covering more species than any other book of its kind—National Geographic's new regional guide delivers carefully selected information on every bird found east of the Rocky Mountains. Authoritative descriptions based on the latest research combine with full-color portraits of more than 600 birds to offer a comprehensive and practical guide for every enthusiast, from novice to expert. Our new regional format means you get more of what birders love about National Geographic's popular guides: more detail, more tips for faster identification, and more field-tested innovations to help you get the most from your birding adventures.

- NEW Visual Index, on inside covers, depicts key members of every family—giving you instant access to the content based on the appearance of the bird you're observing. A National Geographic exclusive!
- Concise species accounts and richly annotated art highlight birds' physical features, helping to simplify—and demystify—the identification process.
- Newly designed range maps zoom in on ranges...tip boxes aid the most challenging identifications...thumbtabs speed the hunt for information...and gorgeous full-color covers, with informative place-holder flaps, stand up to rigorous field use for years of birding enjoyment!

U.S. $19.95 / $22.95 CAN

ISBN: 978-1-4262-0330-5 / PRINTED IN CHINA

9 781426 203305

5 1995

COVER ILLUSTRATION
BY JONATHAN ALDERFER

NATURE / BIRDS