

'I congratulate you on your whole career, both as a geneticist and as a humanist. Since long ago, you have been an honorary member of the Mouvement Universel de la Responsabilité Scientifique (Worldwide Movement for Scientific Responsibility) in view of the fact that you contributed to the International Conference, Biology and the Future of Man, in 1974 when the MURS was founded.' JEAN DAUSSET, NOBEL PRIZE FOR PHYSIOLOGY OR MEDICINE 1980

'This paper is dedicated to George Fraser on the occasion of his 75th birthday. In 1963, he provided me with a valuable critique of a preliminary version of my catalogue of autosomal recessive phenotypes that was under preparation for Mendelian Inheritance in Man. His friendship and professional advice have meant much to me for over 40 years.' VICTOR MCKUSICK

'Over the last 20 years I have come to know George well and have come to admire his enormous breadth of scholarship and knowledge right across the field of human biology. Opening one of his letters, often accompanied by a reprint or a copy of some hitherto neglected work in human genetics, always generates excitement and a feeling that one is about to be educated.'
